AF Announces Atlas Firing Is Successful

Indicate Test Of Huge Missile Not Full Range

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force fired its thunderous Atlas intercontinental missile today and announced the flight was successful.

The great, silver missile was triggered from the test range here at 9:48 a. m. c. s. t.

The missile, biggest and mightiest in the nation's growing ballistic weapon arsenal, rose slowly from its pad, enveloped at first by a cloud of smoke and flame.

But after riding clear of the initial blast, the towering missile, which was coated with ice due to the liquid oxygen in its fuel tanks, sped straight up, then arched majestically downrange over the Atlantic test range.

The Air Force later announced in Washington that the test, "which was not full-range, was successful." A Pentagon spokesman said the Atlas traveled its prescribed course and plunged into the Atlantic far southeast of the launching site.

The range of the flight was not disclosed but it was something short of the 5,500-mile range of which the Atlas is capable when full power is used.

The entire test flight was successful, the Pentagon said.

The only previous successful flight, on Dec. 17, also was of limited range—officially estimated as 600 miles.

The Atlas firing, strictly a military show at this stage, was the fourth test of the Air Force's entry in the ocean-spanning weapon category. There has been speculation that the U. S. could use the Atlas, with some major modifications, to launch an earth satellite, but so far the Navy's Vanguard still has the moon launching assignment here.

Cape talk is that a Vanguard is about ready for another satellite launching attempt, possibly as early as next week.

The Atlas was visible for about three minutes to observers watching from beaches about five miles from the test center. It disappeared with a tremendous roar into a layer of fluffy white clouds high in the sky, trailing a jet of red flame.

The red warning ball used previously by the Air Force to warn away fishing boats immediately in front of the launching site was down when the missile was launched. There was no immediate comment from Air Force officials at Patrick Air Force base of any change in policy concerning raising of the ball.

Appropriated By Congress

Navy's Atom Sub Chief Charges Budget Bureau Withholds Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, the Navy's atom submarine chief, has accused President Eisenhower's Budget Bureau of withholding funds appropriated by Congress.

His statement caused Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B.

Johnson (Tex.) to assert that the Budget Bureau was acting as a "super appropriations committee... a kind of czar or dictator."

Rickover, in testimony released today, also said the Navy now is designing nuclear power plants for submarines "which should last the ships for almost an entire war without refueling." It also is "developing a machine to make oxygen from sea water which will permit them to stay submerged almost indefinitely," he said.

These innovations, he said, will make it possible for subs to hide out under icecaps where they could not be detected and blast the enemy with long-range missiles. He said he was "absolutely certain" it will be possible eventually to launch an intermediate range ballistic missile from a submarine.

Rickover, assistant chief for atomic propulsion of the Navy bureau of ships, said the Budget Bureau thus far has not handed out money for "one or two of my items" although Congress provided the funds for the fiscal year that began last July 1.

He gave no explanation of why the money has been withheld but said, "we ought to cancel the project or get the money."

"I think this business of the item veto (a veto of individual items in a larger appropriation bill) which Congress has never been willing to grant to the President is now being exercised by the Bureau of the Budget," he said.

82-Year-Old Twin Sisters Die 150 Miles Apart

GOLCONDA, Ill.—Twin sisters, born within hours of each other nearly 83 years ago, died in the same manner Thursday morning, 150 miles apart.

Mrs. Janette Hamlyn, the first born, died in Robert Koch hospital in St. Louis County, Mo. at 6:12 a. m. of tuberculosis and pneumonia. The younger twin, Mrs. Rosa Kerley, died at 8:45 a. m. in the home of another sister, Mrs. Peter Ditterline, in Pope County. Her death certificate says "of natural causes due to old age."

They would have been 83 on Jan. 25.

Although Mrs. Hamlyn had been ill for some time with tuberculosis she had been able to visit "her ailing sister," Mrs. Kerley, last summer. She recently contracted pneumonia, and the combination disease was too much for her.

It was reported that Mrs. Kerley at her death weighed only 64 pounds.

The two will be buried, one in St. Louis and one in Pope County, 48 hours apart to allow relatives to attend both funerals.

Surviving Mrs. Kerley are Mrs. Ditterline and another sister, Mrs. Lizzie Wilkins of Metropolis.

Surviving Mrs. Hamlyn, in addition to the two sisters, are three sons, John, Earl and Herbert, and two daughters, Mrs. William Ottlinger and Mrs. W. E. Butler.

Services for Mrs. Kerley will be at 2 p. m. Saturday in Pleasant Valley Baptist Church in Grantsburg with the Rev. Ulys Blanchard officiating. Burial will be in Hazel Cemetery near Dixon Springs.

Services for Mrs. Hamlyn will be at 2 p. m. Monday in a St. Louis funeral home with burial in St. Louis.

Neither sister knew that the other was near death and their respective families only found out about the twin death after the exchange of telegrams reporting each death.

Gray Announces He Will Seek Re-Election

Congressman Kenneth J. Gray, Democrat of West Frankfort, today announced that he plans to run for re-election as representative in Congress from the 25th District of Illinois.

Gray's announcement came shortly after his return to Washington for the reconvening of the second Session of the 85th Congress.

The 33-year-old Congressman in announcing his candidacy for re-election made the following statement from Washington:

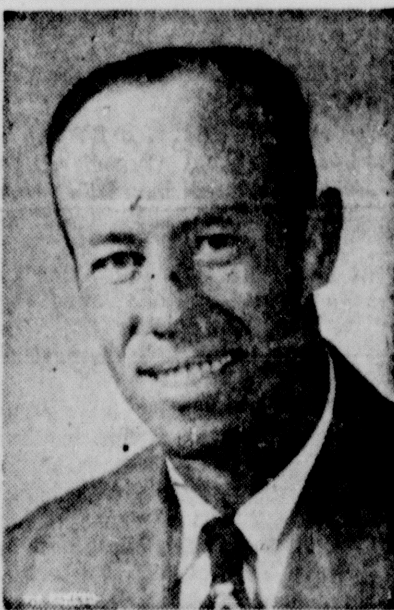

"Although the job of representing southern Illinois in Congress is an arduous one, I have decided to seek re-election in order that I may have the opportunity to carry to a successful conclusion various programs I am working on for the benefit of southern Illinois and all of its citizens. Since my election to Congress three years ago, I have worked diligently to give attention to the thousands of personal problems brought to my attention. I have endeavored to call to the attention of our Government the needs of the people of southern Illinois and have demanded for our area a fair share of the national income.

"I feel southern Illinois is definitely making progress. In excess of fifty million dollars in federal funds will be spent in southern Illinois during 1958 on public building projects, highway construction, flood control work, pension and welfare programs and other benefits designed to raise the social and economic well-being of our people. As a member of the important House Committee on Public Works and two subcommittees, I have been able to guide several projects into southern Illinois."

Soil District Directors Make Final Plans for Annual Meeting

Will Be Held with Kiwanis Club at HTHS on Jan. 28

Final arrangements for the annual meeting of the Saline County Soil Conservation district, to be held the evening of Jan. 28 at the Harrisburg Township high school were formulated Thursday night by county SCS directors in their regular session at the Harrisburg city hall.

At the dinner meeting, which will be a joint session with the Kiwanis club of Harrisburg, J. E. Stanford, public relations director of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, will be the speaker. Persons who heard Mr. Stanford at the 1954 annual meeting at Carrier Mills have testified to the fact that he is an outstanding speaker.

The annual report of the district was completed and approved Thursday night and made ready for distribution at the annual meeting. To be announced at and following the Jan. 28 meeting will be the program of work which the district will follow in 1958.

Teamsters Set Up Two Million Dollar Defense Fund; Officials Are Assessed

CHICAGO (AP)—About 2,000 officials of the giant Teamsters Union today faced assessments of $1,040 each to build a two-million-dollar fund for their own defense should they "run into legal difficulties."

Harold J. Gibbons, St. Louis, a vice president of the union and top aide to President-elect James R. Hoffa, told of the assessment Thursday at a meeting of Teamsters officials from 13 midwestern states.

Gibbons said Hoffa had nothing to do with planning the fund and added "most Teamster officials are under attack one way or another."

"I suppose Hoffa will benefit from the fund, though," Gibbons said.

Or Voluntary Basis

Promissory notes were handed out to the officials during the meeting, authorizing union payroll deductions of $10 weekly for two years and providing for an 11 percent penalty for overdue payments.

Gibbons said the fund drive was on a voluntary basis, and no union official had to contribute.

Seven trustees, to be known as "Labor's Minute Men," will administer the defense fund, Gibbons said. The contributions will be used for the legal defense of Teamster officials and to provide benefits for the families of convicted union office-holders.

'For the Little Guy'

Gibbons said the defense fund plan was thought up after the union's convention last October. Since then, the union has been ousted from the AFL-CIO, Union President Dave Beck has been convicted of embezzlement, and Hoffa has been prevented from assuming the presidency on charges his election was rigged.

Directors present Thursday night were A. A. Gholson, Ewell Harris, Cecil Nelson, Lowell Wise and Carl Vance. Others attending were Raymond Vinyard, organization director of the Saline County Farm Bureau, Farm Adviser L. B. Kimmel and Soil Conservationist Tom Morgan.

At the meeting it was brought out that there are several agencies, both state and federal, that co-operate with the Saline Soil district in carrying on its work, and the board of directors reviewed the work.

James Menzie, state farm forester with an office in Harrisburg, works with farmers who have timber or those who may be interested in tree planting. He advises on such problems as tree planting, woods management, selective cutting, fire prevention, and will cruise a wooded area and mark trees that are ready for harvest as a service to the farmer.

In one or more capacities Mr. Menzie worked with the following farm owners in 1957: Atty. Alpheus Gustin, O. D. Bovinet, W. H. Morris, Julius McLary, Orval Genet, Harold James, Kirk D. Burnett, W. H. Copeland, Cecil Nelson and the Eldorado Water Co.

Bill Mestel, game biologist with an office at Mt. Vernon, assists farmers in providing food and cover for wildlife on their farms. During 1957 he supplied planting stock for wildlife cover advised with the following Saline county farmers: T. H. Weight, Howard Wilson, Henry Fowler, Wilbur Fowler, Marion Odle, Clarence Etienne Jr., J. C. Durham and W. A. Morris.

Farmers interested in assistance from these men may contact them directly or may contact the Soil Conservation office.

Says Nation Will Be Superior for Perhaps 2 Years

Testifies Before Senate Committee On Preparedness

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nelson A. Rockefeller warned today that the United States is "rapidly losing" its military lead over Russia but said it is "emphatically not too late" to regain it.

Rockefeller is chairman of the fund which recently issued the widely publicized Rockefeller report on U. S. defenses. The report called for a three-billion-dollar yearly increase in military spending and a Pentagon shakeup to unify the nation's defenses.

He testified before the Senate Preparedness subcommittee. It was to hear secret testimony this afternoon from Maj. Gen. John Medaris, commander of the Army's missile center.

Rockefeller said that for "perhaps two years" the United States will be superior to the Soviet Union in striking power. But unless the "present trend" is reversed in that period, he said, the "balance of power" will tip in the Russians' favor.

Should that happen, he said, it is "not likely" that this country would have another chance to reassert military superiority.

"It is emphatically not too late if we are willing to make the big effort now," he said.

The early phase of Rockefeller's testimony amounted to a thumbnail review of the report released by the Rockefeller Fund's military panel last Monday. He said the report's recommendations represent the considered judgment of some 50 individuals.

They believe, he said, that it is "essential that major steps be taken now to insure survival."

He repeated before the subcommittee the report's recommendation that the United States boost its military budget now by some three billion dollars and continue the increase for six years. He again stressed the need for reorganization in the Pentagon, commenting that the roles of the individual services tend to be "competitive rather than complementary."

Symptom, Not Cause

The secretary of defense, Rockefeller said, is "so burdened with the task of trying to arbitrate" inter-service rivalries that he can not play his full role as policy maker.

Rockefeller said the United States is losing its lead in military strength and also "in the race for military technology." But he called the "U. S. lag in missiles and space machines a symptom" rather than "a cause."

Another congressional investigation of the nation's military strength opened today. The House Armed Services Committee met in closed session for a briefing on the Defense Department's various missiles in preparation for taking testimony Monday from Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy and other officials.

Chairman Carl Vinson urged the committee to keep its investigation non-partisan. He said that among other issues, the question of reorganizing the Pentagon to end inter-service rivalry—as suggested by President Eisenhower in his State of the Union message Thursday—would be thoroughly aired.

The chairman of the Senate investigation, Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, hinted guardedly, meanwhile, that the nation may have some secret military advances up its sleeve.

"In emphasizing our shortcomings and deficiencies, it is well to recognize that we have done some things that our folks don't know about," Johnson said. "We have many strengths that should—and will—be emphasized."

Our Missiles Move

Editorial—BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
The continuing series of missile tests at Cape Canaveral, Fla., indicates that the government of the United States is hard at work trying to close the actual and the psychological gap opened by the Soviet Union through its successful missile-satellite launches earlier this fall.

Best news to date was our success with the much publicized Atlas, an intercontinental ballistic missile designed to travel 5,500 miles in half an hour at heights up to 600 miles above the earth.

The recent test was not intended to put the Atlas over its full course. The target time was a mere 500 miles away. But there has to be a beginning, and Atlas made it, reaching its target and operating properly en route. No hint was given of its speed or maximum altitude on this firing. Naturally, until an Atlas has traveled its maximum range at calculated speed and height and re-entered the earth's atmosphere to land successfully in its target zone, there can be no sustained rejoicing. Much important labor on this missile clearly remains to be done.

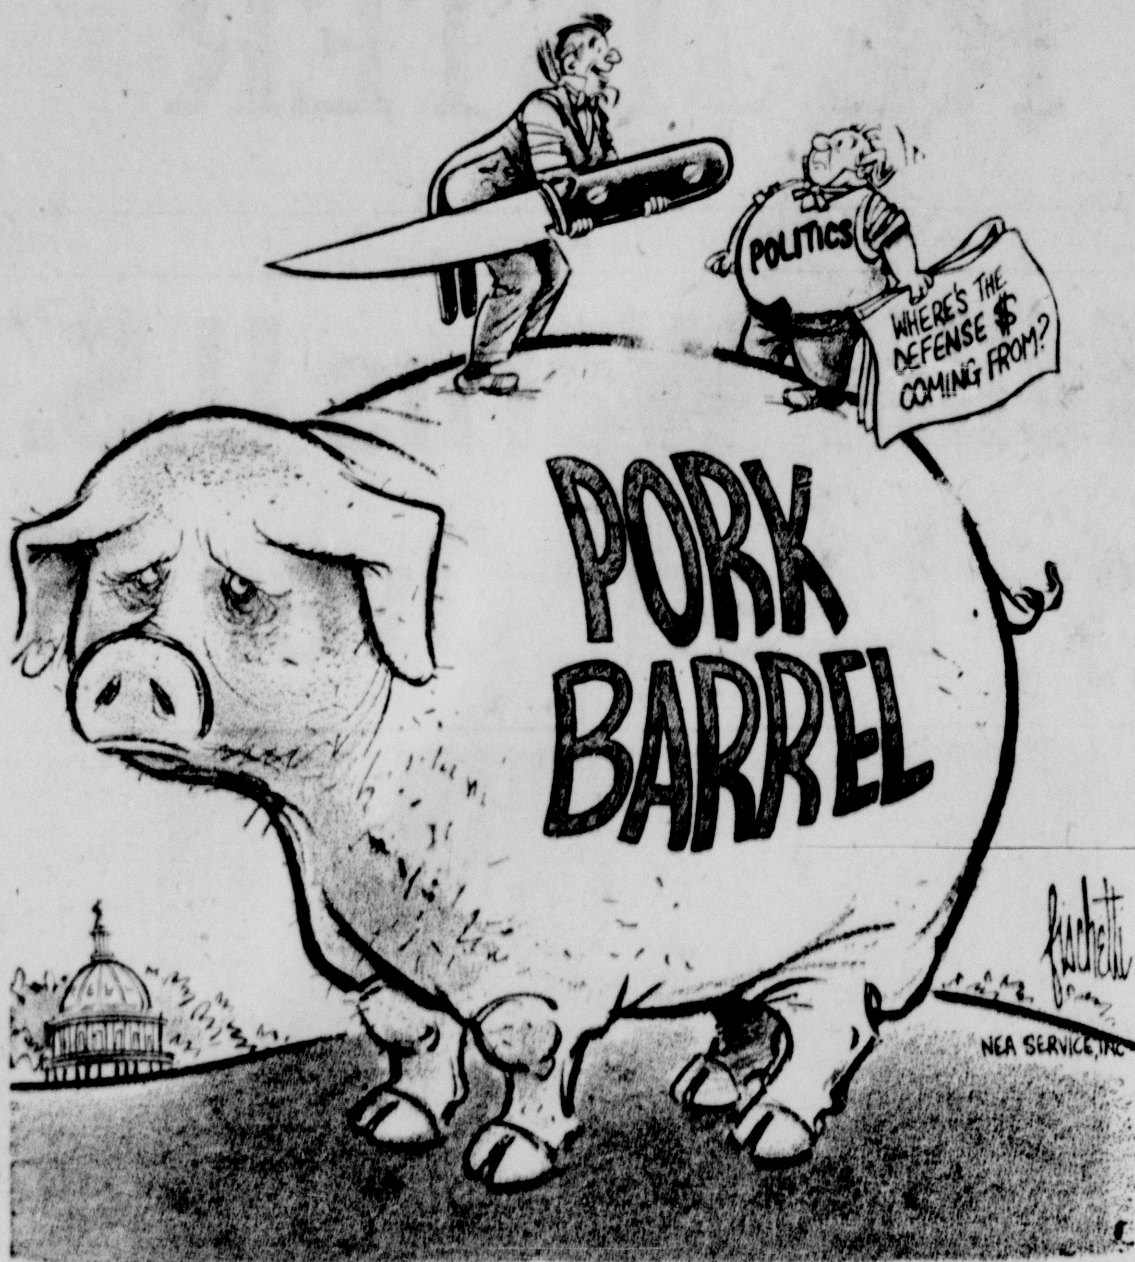

It should not be forgotten, either, that our experts now believe Russia is in fact ahead of us in intercontinental ballistic missile work, perhaps having fired from four to eight such weapons successfully.

Nevertheless, the news of Atlas' getaway at Cape Canaveral must have been a tonic to some of our free world allies who have been suffering tremors of fear ever since the Soviet earth satellites went on their whirling course around the globe.

The first foolish shrugging off of those launchings as "not so much" has been forgotten. We're down to business now, determined to recapture the lead in rocketry and to wipe out as much of the propaganda damage as possible.

And we are showing that, with-

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Charlie Wilson Pooh-Poohed Idea Of Space Ship; John Roosevelt's Publicity Eyed By Security & Exchange Commission; More Money Than Morals Behind Return Of Alien Property.

WASHINGTON.—Charlie Wilson, the ex-secretary of defense, is complaining that they're "trying to make a goat out of me" regarding the American missile snafu. If he protests too much, however, here is an incident some of his onetime GOP friends may reveal.

On Nov. 29, 1954, Wernher Von Braun, the ex-Nazi missile expert, made a speech before the Women's National Press Club in which he urged the United States to develop a satellite. The possessor of the satellite, he said, could pry out the secrets of the world. It would be a tremendous propaganda weapon.

"The nation which gets this first will rule the world," Von Braun said. He also predicted that man would be able to put a station in outer space, could then transfer to another vessel for regular excursions to the moon.

Next day Secretary Wilson held a press conference, was asked out belittling the Russian achievement with earth satellites, we do not intend to be deflected from the vital task of developing the weapons whose possession we deem necessary to the enduring security of this and all other free nations.

about Von Braun's statement.

"Von Braun said the project could be attained in a few years if the government spent enough money on it," said Sarah McClendon of the El Paso Times, the Sherman Democrat, and other Texas papers. "Are you going to recommend that the money be spent?"

"No," replied Wilson. "I would rather keep my feet on the ground, figuratively speaking as well as physically speaking. I don't know that anyone knows how you would rule the world with a space ship. It's a little dreamy, I think. I'm almost tempted to tell a story."

With a little prompting Wilson did tell a story—about the man who stopped in front of an insane asylum to change a tire. While an inmate watched him over the fence, the motorist accidentally stepped on his hub cap which contained the nuts to replace his tire. They went down a culvert. Noting the motorist's consternation, the inmate of the insane asylum suggested that he remove one nut from each wheel and thereby get enough nuts to replace the tire.

"What's a man with your brains doing in there!" exclaimed the grateful motorist.

"I may be crazy," replied the inmate, "but I'm not stupid."

That was Charlie Wilson's reply to Von Braun regarding space ships.

Note 1—Remarked Longview Tex., publisher Carl Estes when he heard Jim Hagerty assert that the United States was not in a race with the Russians to achieve the space ship: "Then why aren't we in such a race? If President Roosevelt had been in the White House we would have been in that race and we would have won it."

Note 2—In fairness to Mr. Wilson, it should be recalled that in 1954 he was overruled by the President when he warned that a budget cut would jeopardize national defense. Again in 1955 Wilson complained that the Defense Department was being slashed dangerously. Again in 1957, he registered the same protest. Each time he was overruled.

JOHN ROOSEVELT
John Roosevelt, handsome, youngest son of the late President, can boast a number of firsts. He is the first member of the family to turn Republican. He's also the first to stay married to the same spouse. John has been making noises, sotto voce, about running for mayor or governor of New York.

On the side, he has also been dabbling in some publicity which may get him into trouble with the Securities and Exchange Commission which his father founded to protect American investors from Wall Street wolves.

John has been writing some glowing accounts of Cuban investment opportunities, which are being mailed to a sucker list by a Canadian-Cuban stock-selling syndicate.

Roosevelt's statements regarding the rosy future of Cuba may well be accurate. However, they are being mailed out in fancy brochures by International Analyst Corp., which is linked with Anglo-American Investment Corp., both operating out of Cuba.

The Securities and Exchange Commission is investigating the syndicate's operations which are illegal in this country, and have linked it with a banned broker-dealer in Canada. Several letters have gone out over the signature of Leonard Gerard Green of Montreal, whose resignation was canceled by the Quebec Securities Commission in 1956 following a complaint from the SEC over his operations in the U. S.

The syndicate has been selling common stock in Latin-American Exploration Co., which is not registered with the SEC. The stock has been offered to American investors at $2 a share.

Neither this column nor the SEC has been able to reach John Roosevelt who is traveling in the Caribbean "on business." He may be unaware of the illegal activities of the stock-selling syndicate that has been using his articles to soften up suckers in the United States.

MORALS AND MONEY

The National Council of Churches recently heard a fervent moral plea by a prominent Methodist layman, Charles C. Parlin, urging the return of alien property seized in the United States during World War II. There was money as well as morals behind his talk.

"Moral concepts have moved on apace since Cortez in Mexico used torture as a means of Christian conversion," declared Parlin in an outburst of moral exhortation to the Council of Churches.

What Parlin did not tell his audience, however, was that his law firm, Sherman, Sterling & Wright, has been attorney for six German corporations vitally interested in the return of alien property: Wintershall, A. G.; Saldzeldfurth, A. G.; Kalinskykat; Schering, A. G.; Siemens and Halske, A. G.; and Munchener Ruckversicherungs Gesellschaft. Sen. George Smathers of Florida has proposed that instead of handing back this property, the United States use the proceeds to give science and engineering education to the children of American war veterans. Parlin was opposing this bill.

Cadillac

It Says "Greatness"...in Any Language!

Wherever highways exist and motor cars are known, the name "Cadillac" signifies but one thing—the unmistakable leader in its field.

For the motor car that has borne that distinguished name for the past fifty-five years has been so well designed and crafted that it has become a synonym for everything good and desirable in a product.

And never have these virtues been more evident than they are in the Cadillac car for 1958.

A single, sweeping glance at the new "car of cars", for example, reveals a grace and majesty and elegance never before attainable in modern automotive design.

A brief journey at the wheel provides irrefutable proof of the forward strides that have been made in Cadillac performance and in Fleetwood coachcrafting.

And a study of the facts about Cadillac economy and dependability indicates a soundness of investment beyond anything in Cadillac's brilliant past.

If you haven't as yet inspected and driven a 1958 Cadillac, you should do so very soon.

Whatever your favorite among Cadillac's wide selection of models, which includes the distinguished Eldorado Brougham, you will find it a rare masterpiece in everything a Cadillac can be.

Methodist W. S. C. S. Hold General Meeting In Church

The general meeting of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the First Methodist church met in the church at 2 p. m. Wednesday, Mrs. L. B. Kimmel, president, led the group repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison to open the meeting. Mrs. C. E. Combe read the minutes of the previous meeting and Mrs. C. L. Travis gave the treasurer's report including the report on the recent bazaar which showed a balance of $1442.49 after expenses were deducted.

Mrs. C. E. Jones described and explained the worship center prepared by Mrs. Louise Walker. Mrs. Combe gave the devotion assisted by Mrs. G. B. Funkhouser and Mrs. W. L. Cummins. She said, "Kind words are just like the oil of gladness to make the world run smooth."

A feature of the program was the report by Mrs. C. E. Wing on her trip to the United Nations, where she was as a representative of the Southern Illinois conference of the WSCS, one of 60 representatives of several races and creeds from all over the United States.

They went to the United Nations seminar in New York and Washington, D. C. and Mrs. Wing sat in on three sessions of the United Nations general assembly at the time when Leslie Munroe of New Zealand was presiding. She met with the group in brief sessions with delegations from many nations and heard Mr. Mennen from India speak on the Indian and Pakistan question. Mr. Julov, third secretary of the Yugoslavian delegation was a speaker who stands out in her memory, but perhaps the most interesting was a woman delegate, Rochmujati Wirjohomodo of Indonesia who spoke of the new government of her country, its hopes and plans particularly in the field of education where they hope to raise the present 7% literacy with a program of compulsory education for all children by 1960.

Another outstanding personality in the field of children's welfare was John Edmondson of the secretariat under UNICEF who spoke of the maternal and child care program including the clinic in India and the training program for midwives of that populous country. He spoke of the 600,000,000 children that wake up hungry every morning and the programs for the use of fish meal in Chili as a flour supplement and the use of soy bean in India to relieve some of this hunger.

In Washington, D. C., the meetings were under the sponsorship of the Commission of Churches on International Affairs, a non-government organization which acts as a liaison between the churches of the world and the UN, acting under the sponsorship of the United Council of Churches of America. About 51 churches from 20 countries are represented in this group including Protestant denominations, Jewish and Orthodox churches.

Outstanding speakers in this group included Charles Smith of the Washington office of the National Council of churches, Dr. Robert E. Van Deusen of the National Lutheran council and from the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor, Mrs. Alice K. Leopold, assistant to the Secretary of Labor for U. S. Affairs and Director of the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor. Mrs. Wing will speak at greater length on each of these departments at a series of talks for organizations throughout Southern Illinois in the coming months.

The group made a tour of the

STONEFORT SCHOOL NEWS

By CAROL Bainbridge

Happy New Year

Well, at last, here I am with bits of news from S. G. S. Our vacation was cut short this year due to the fact that we had to make up a week.

We were in a tournament this week at Sunny Side, but were defeated in the first round by Enderby.

Lynn Pritchett, a second grader, had her tonsils removed last week and is coming along fine. We hope to have her back in school before long.

Arnold Morse has returned to school after long illness and a short stay in the hospital.

NOTE FROM THE PRIMARY ROOM

The primary room held its Christmas party Monday, Dec. 23. We had five birthdays to celebrate. They were Susie Phillips, Sammy Rose, Dior Killman, Mairretta Harper and Freddy Deaton. After gifts were given out from beneath the tree, refreshments of oranges and candy candy were served.

Now we can reveal some of our secrets. Each child had made a pretty folder and put a hanky in it for his mother. The following mothers were present to receive their gifts: Mrs. Mary Lou Harper, Mrs. Doris Killman, Mrs. Melba Bracewell, Mrs. Marge Felty, and Mrs. Elizabeth Pritchett. Another secret was a small gift to our janitor, Mr. Fowler, from the pupils and Miss Mary. Mrs. Alice Smith, who does such an efficient job of keeping us well fed received a small gift also.

Miss Mary wishes to thank the children for all the lovely and useful gifts she received.

December 3, we came back to school and spent most of the day showing our presents to each other.

Eisenhower Favors Expanded Power for Defense Secretary

Pentagon Caught Flat-Footed by President's Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower wants to expand the powers of his defense secretary and possibly give him a senior military staff to help push space weapons development and end inter-service disputes, it was reported today.

An administration source said Eisenhower was personally directing studies for overhauling defense policies and organization.

The President in his State of the Union message said he had underway a "special study" of what he called the never-ending problem of improving military unification.

If the President decides to seek a military staff for Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy and to enlarge the already immense powers of the Pentagon chief, he will have to seek legislation. A military advisory staff is barred by law now. The secretary has to rely for help upon the staffs of the military departments and the joint chiefs of staff.

The President's announcement of impending defense reorganization caught the Pentagon by surprise. There was no comment from McElroy. Eisenhower's speech quickly became a "best seller" in and out of the joint chiefs organization. One top-level defense official told a reporter "You are not the only one" curious about the President's plans. He said there were thousands in the Pentagon.

There has been a lack of enthusiasm for reorganization among military men, who think that increased money and decreased red tape are more likely answers to the problem of speeding weapons output in the face of Russian challenges.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, said in a major speech Monday the present joint chiefs organization was "in harmony with our form of government." He criticized the idea of a single military chief for the whole defense organization.

Administration sources said Eisenhower and his aides have not worked out their defense scheme details. But they said the President aimed at greater authority for McElroy, tighter control of military budgets and a high-level military staff for the defense secretary.

Historical Society Speaker Entertains With Talk, Slides on Area Scenes, Wildlife

The thirty-two members and guests of the Saline County Historical society, meeting at the Mitchell-Carnegie Library Tuesday evening, were pleasantly entertained by the dry wit and picturesque language of Addison Hapeman, the guest speaker.

In his introduction Mr. Hapeman drew a graphic description of the geological formation of this territory in Southern Illinois known as Egypt. He continued with a slide illustrated talk on the scenic and wildlife features of this part of the state. This was somewhat of a departure from Mr. Hapeman's announced subject but judging from the response of the assembly it could not have been more enjoyed. Mr. Hapeman explained that the switch in his subject was due to the appearance of a new heir on Monday. He said that he, his wife, and three doctors had been unusually busy and that he could not be expected to delve into such a subject as archaeology at such a time.

"Take What the Desert Offers" was sung by John W. Brown, director of the Eldorado Art Center. His accompanist was Miss Ruth Hamilton, president of the Eldorado Woman's club.

An enjoyable social hour had been planned by Mrs. J. M. Burley and her committee composed of Mrs. Clarence Bosket and Mrs. William Farley. Members were reminded that dues are now due. The Historical Society's year begins with the January meeting. Dues are $2.00 per year and persons interested in the history of Illinois, Southern Illinois and Saline county are invited to join in pleasant association with members in preserving our historical heritage.

Killed In Fall Into Sandhopper

CHICAGO HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — Willie Burgess, 33, Beecher, was killed Thursday when he fell into a sandhopper. Two workmen were injured, one critically, in a rescue attempt.

Authorities said Burgess, the father of four children, was walking on top of the 100-foot hopper when frozen sand crumbled and he fell. Death was attributed to suffocation.

Henry Duensing, 31, Chicago Heights, and Louis Pappito, jumped into the hopper to dig for the victim when a large chunk of frozen sand fell on Duensing.

Duensing was taken to St. James hospital here with serious chest injuries. Pappito was treated for shock and exhaustion.

Three Killed On Aircraft Carrier

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP) — Three American sailors were killed and two others critically injured today in a catapult explosion aboard the attack aircraft carrier U. S. S. Kearsarge.

Naval authorities did not announce the names of the dead and injured.

The accident happened in the starboard catapult room of the 4,000-ton carrier while it was preparing to launch its planes.

Auto Crashes Into Fire Engine, One Killed, Another Hurt

HARVEY, Ill. (AP) — One man was killed and another injured early today when a car crashed into a fire engine en route to a spectacular blaze that threatened an entire block of this Chicago suburb.

Joseph Popopian, 41, driver of the car, died shortly after arrival at Ingalls Memorial Hospital here. Gilbert Fennema, 30, a fireman, suffered injuries when he was thrown into the street from the back of the fire pump truck.

The fire truck was from South Holland, one of the 12 neighboring communities which rushed men and equipment to combat a blaze which destroyed three buildings, including the Harvey fire station, and caused smoke and water damage to two others.

Wright to Enter GOP Race

CHICAGO (AP) — Warren E. Wright, 64, twice state treasurer, said he will try again to win the post.

To do so, he would first have to upset in the April 8 primary the candidate the official GOP leadership has picked for the nomination and then win the November election.

Wright said that he would file his petitions to become the Republican candidate for state treasurer, but said he had not yet picked the day he would submit the papers.

His entry into the primary would be a challenge to the regular Republican Party choice of State Rep. Louis E. Beckman, Kanakake, for the post.

Gov. Stratton has indicated his preference for Beckman as the successor to Elmer J. Hoffman who now holds the office. The Cook County GOP organization has endorsed the legislator.

Wright was state treasurer from 1941 to 1943 and again in 1955 to 1957. He has frequently found himself opposing Stratton on party matters.

Arrest 67-Year-Old Husband of Girl, 12

LINN, Mo. (AP) — Authorities today held without bail the 67-year-old husband of a 12-year-old girl.

James Harris was arrested Thursday at the home of his bride on the first day of their honeymoon.

Sheriff August Schaefer also arrested the bride's father, Thomas Ellwood, 65, The Belle, Mo., husband and father were charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The sheriff said the marriage occurred Wednesday night near Bland, Mo., with the Rev. Roy Jett performing the ceremony.

Welfare officials placed the girl in another home. The girl's mother, also named in a warrant, was permitted to remain at home to care for three younger children.

Divorce Ruling Provides New Car Each Year for Wife

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — William E. Mixon Jr. must provide his former wife with a new car each year as long as he stays in business as an automobile dealer.

That was one of the provisions in a divorce granted to Mrs. Mixon Thursday, by Circuit Judge Harold O. Farmer.

The Mixons, East St. Louis, were married in 1945 and separated three years ago. Mrs. Mixon alleged cruelty.

Killer Dies in The Sing Sing Electric Chair

OSSINING, N. Y. (AP) — Gangland killer Elmer (Trigger) Burke died in the Sing Sing electric chair Thursday night with a nervous smile on his lips and uncounted underworld secrets hidden in his heart.

Burke, who drew top rubout assignments in his 40-year life of crime, was executed for murdering his best friend, Ed (Poachie) Walsh, a longshoreman who made the fatal error of disagreeing with him in 1952.

Killer, thief, prison breaker and decorated soldier, Burke entered the green-walled death chamber at 11:01 p.m. e.s.t. A smile flickered across his lips and he waved to a witness who said later he never saw Burke before. Burke sat in the chair and the death hood was buckled on his head. Three minutes after he had entered the room, Burke was dead.

Officials put him to death reluctantly. They had offered him his life if he would tell what he knew about waterfront killings in New York, the million-dollar Brinks robbery in Boston, and other underworld activities.

Burke once was hired in 1954 to assassinate a suspect in the Brinks robbery, Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe, in Boston. He sprayed O'Keefe with 40 machinegun bullets but O'Keefe lived and Burke went to prison. Authorities believed Burke got some of the $1,219,000 Brinks loot, or knew where it was.

Maryland Paper Asks President To Slow Auto

WASHINGTON (AP) — President: Please slow down another five miles an hour at least when you're driving through Montgomery County.

This was the tenor of an appeal to President Eisenhower from a weekly newspaper published in the Maryland countryside through which the Chief Executive travels every time he makes the 80-mile drive between the White House and his farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

The Montgomery County Sentinel printed "an open letter to Ike" respectfully suggesting that keeping the presidential car five miles below the speed limit "not only would increase your chance of safety on our open roads but that of everyone else as well."

The newspaper told the President, "the five minutes you would lose while going through our county, we are sure would not greatly hamper your schedule."

The open letter to the President was accompanied by a cartoon showing a rooster, hen and chicks by a roadside. The rooster was warning, "Don't you chicks cross the road-Ike's party will be along any minute!"

State Police Raid Gambling Casino Near E. St. Louis

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Twenty-eight persons were arrested Thursday night when Illinois state troopers raided a gambling casino in Centerville Township on the outskirts of East St. Louis.

Fifteen state policemen found two dice tables, a blackjack table, poker chips and dice at the illegal casino which was disguised as an abandoned cafe.

Justice of the Peace Charles Wright of Belleville conducted a special hearing at the French Village headquarters of the state police and fined 14 of those arrested a total of $485.

Fourteen others were held on bond for future hearings.

Capt. Ezra Brantley, who directed the raid, said he had information that East Side hoodlum Frank (Buster) Wortman had an interest in the gambling operation.

Expert Says High School Driver Training Greatest Potential for Safety

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The "greatest potential" for safe movement of traffic is a driver training program in every high school, a safety expert told Illinois editors and publishers today.

Prof. Amos E. Neyhart, head of the Institute of Public Safety of Penn State University, gave the keynote address and also spoke on high school driver training programs at the Illinois Editor and Publisher Highway Traffic Safety Seminar here.

About 180 editors and publishers are attending the three-day seminar, first move in a planned year-long drive to "save 100 lives in Illinois in 1958."

Neyhart said too little money is spent on improving drivers and "this is indeed unfortunate since driver errors are responsible for at least 75 per cent of our traffic accidents."

$3.32 Per Student

High school driver training programs, he said, must include both classroom work and actual driving practice, and should be offered as a regular part of the high school curriculum.

He said the national conference on driver education recommended that high school programs include a minimum of 45 to 60 hours with a minimum of 30 hours classroom instruction.

Neyhart said that when lack of money is listed as an excuse for not offering driver training, "it should be remembered that the money lost through traffic accidents in 1956 alone would teach 138 million high school youths to drive."

He said the average cost of driver training programs was $3.32 per student and "this is indeed a very small amount" viewed against the future driving records of students.

Neyhart said studies made in several states showed a reduction ranging from 40 per cent to 66 per cent in the number of violations and accidents among high school trained drivers and "surely this is ample evidence that these courses are paying off."

More Unfit Drivers

Neyhart listed "seven serious unobserved traffic problems" including increases in the number of unfit drivers and unfit vehicle enforcement, drinking and a growing "devil may care attitude" on the part of drivers and pedestrians.

As an example of the growing number of unfit drivers, Neyhart said psychiatrists who examined 10,000 drivers in Detroit found 100 comitantly insane and 850 teble-minded. Ohio authorities, he said, found 600 licensed drivers receiving checks for the blind from the state.

"SCIENCE SURPASSES THE MIRACLES OF MYTHOLOGY"

The practice of medicine and pharmacy in ancient days was based chiefly on wishful hope. Little was known about how the body was constructed. Most diseases were considered to be caused by evil spirits.

Modern perfected methods of diagnosis enable physicians to correctly determine the cause of sickness. Fortified by this knowledge and ably assisted by recently perfected drugs they often, almost overnight, produce results that were formerly impossible. That is why now, more than ever, it is wise to consult your physician when sick.

Illinois Coal Production 4th In Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Coal Assn. estimated today Illinois produced 46,272,000 tons of bituminous coal in 1957—the fourth highest total in the country.

The estimate was made in advance of official Bureau of Mines reports and so was not considered "official."

The figure was the second highest since 1951, though below the 1956 production of 48,102,000. West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Kentucky had higher totals, the NCA said.

The NCA also said Illinois coal mine production was faced with two serious challenges in the importation of residual fuel oil from Europe and natural gas from Canada, both of which tend to replace coal in industrial use.

Residual oil is the residue left when gasoline and other products are extracted from crude oil. The NCA said it has "flooded" the United States' East coast, a market normally supplied by coal.

In a concluding note, the association said that Illinois' all-time coal production—more than 3 1/2 billion tons—is only about 5 per cent of the total tonnage of the state's reserves.

He clenched a fist and swung at me. I ducked, just in time. His fist grazed the side of my head, and I pivoted and came around with an open palm and smacked him across the cheek. He bowed in, his fists bunched. He kept coming, foolishly waving his fists. I really hit him then, a short right to his jaw. It jarred him and he staggered backward. I pushed him into a chair. He struggled to get up, his eyes wild. I raised my fist and snapped, "Behave!"

I waited maybe a minute. Then I said, "I'm sorry, Wayne, but you had it coming. Now I want you to explain what you just said. What did you mean? You'll have to talk to the sheriff anyhow."

He didn't speak for a moment. He lowered his hands and clasped them between his knees, his gaze on the floor, and he began to talk in a low, dead voice. "I knew that Sandra had been married before, but she said she was divorced. I—I wanted to believe her. Then I came up from the beach one afternoon, earlier than she expected me. A man was here. I heard his voice and I saw him, through the bedroom window. They were quarreling." He unclasped his hands.

"Then what?" I asked. He clasped his hands again and continued to stare at the floor. "That's about all. Sandra told him to leave her alone. He said, 'Sure, baby, but cut me in.' Then he left. I went in and talked to Sandra, told her what I'd heard. She confessed that the man had once been her husband, but that he meant nothing to her any more, that she loved me. I believed her. I—I still believe her."

"He's still her husband," I said. "What did he look like?" "Small and dark, checkered suit—I hated him."

"And you hated Sandra, too?" I said softly. "No, no!" I pointed a finger at him. "You think that if it hadn't been for your father, checking on Sandra, and hiring me to check on her, you would never have known the truth about her, and you wouldn't have had to—kill her."

He started to rise. There was a movement by the bedroom door. I looked that way. Honey Campbell stood staring at the two of us with haunted eyes. Then she spoke to Wayne in a half whisper. "Wayne, I—please—I'm sorry, truly sorry."

I said, "Go back and lie down, Honey."

She stared at Wayne a moment, and then turned slowly, her shoulders drooping, and entered the bedroom.

I heard voices outside and turned. Through the screen I saw the beam of a flashlight. I moved out to the porch and said loudly, "This is the place, Sheriff. Come on in."

Sheriff Sam Schneider was a tall, pale, lanky man, maybe 50 years old, laconic and intelligent. He wore a faded army suntan shirt, tan slacks and a broad-brimmed western style hat. A black gun belt around his slender waist supported a holster and a revolver. The young deputy with him stood guard on the front porch while the sheriff and I talked in the kitchen.

He kept probing, asking questions, most of them shrewd and to the point, and I ended up by giving him the complete picture, all the details.

When I had finished, he summarized it all laconically and accurately, and pretty much in sequence. "Thanks, Bennett. I think I got it straight now. You work for a private investigation outfit. This Howell hired you to check on a woman—the deceased—because he figured she was after the money his son would inherit. Howell had a friend, a former employee—Lott—who got killed with an ice pick. You figure it was a mistake, that the killer was really after Howell, but they were both drunk and got their rooms switched. All right."

He paused, looked at the ceiling and then at the floor, and went on. "Somebody slugged you and pushed you into the lake. Young Howell pulls you out, probably saved you from drowning. Howell, senior, gets drunk and abusive in the Harbor House. Talks nasty to Otto Hahn, the bartender—I know Otto, nice fellow. Otto has an ice pick, but all bartenders have them. Maybe he don't like Howell. All right. Orville Campbell—a personal friend of mine, by the way—locks up Howell the night before last for disorderly conduct. And Howell's in jail tonight on the same charge.

"Then we got Howell's son and this woman—the deceased—who's got her hooks into him because, according to Howell, senior, of the money the kid will get from the trust, the money the old man won't get if the kid gets married before his birthday next month. But the old man gets half the money if the kid stays single. Screw set-up, but legal, I suppose. All right."

"You and Howell go fishing out on the point. Somebody takes a shot at Howell from the woods, misses him. Then Howell gets locked up again. You find out that the woman—the deceased—got married to the kid in Kentucky. Then you find out that she's already married to a racketeer in Detroit wanted by the police. So you make a date with the woman to explain the facts of life to her, so she'll lay off the kid. Then you see the kid and tell him that his wife is a bigamist, and go to meet the woman. But she don't show up, and you come here and find her—dead."

Form Boosters Club to Stimulate Interest in Athletic Programs

A brand new organization in Harrisburg—The Harrisburg Boosters Club—seems assured of a successful future.

The club is barely out of the planning stage and already more than thirty have paid a year's dues and are enthusiastic over the possibilities of the organization.

The announced aims and objectives are:

1. To stimulate interest in local athletic programs.
2. To seek to increase attendance by the townspeople at all local school events.
3. To provide the membership of the organization the opportunity of hearing noted sports speakers and the fellowship of other sports enthusiasts.
4. It is understood and agreed that the Harrisburg Boosters club shall not interfere or make any recommendations to any school board as to the administration of their athletic policies or programs.

The club has the full backing of Harrisburg school officials, a spokesman declared.

Plans are to meet the fourth Monday of each month—August through May—at 6:30 p. m. in the Masonic temple for dinner and program.

Top notch speakers from the field of athletics will appear on the program.

The first meeting will be held Monday, Jan. 27, and the speaker will be Ronnie Gibbs, Springfield, probably the outstanding football official in the nation. Gibbs was referee for the championship game of the National Professional Football league and has handled many of the top games for years.

Yearly dues will be $10 and the money will be used to secure speakers and for other necessary expenses to further interest in athletic activities in Harrisburg.

Members of the board of directors, to serve through May 31, 1958, are Charles Shingler, Dr. Robert Pulliam, Charles "Huck" Gee, George Davis, R. A. Moore, Bob Karnes, Ed Brantley, Steve Starkey and Bob Gaskins.

An active membership drive will be staged in the near future, however anyone wishing to become a member of the Harrisburg Boosters club may see any member of the board of directors and immediately become affiliated with the organization.

Knicks Beat Celtics 136-123 In Scoring Spree

By United Press
Remember when a team used to score 45 points in an entire basketball game? Well, in the high flying, basket-a-minute National Basketball Assn. this season, they're scoring that many points in a single period.

Trailing, 92-91, after three periods, the New York Knickerbockers went on a scoring spree that netted them 45 points in the final session Thursday night and a 136-123 victory over the Boston Celtics.

The New York-Boston game was the first of a twinbill at Syracuse's War Memorial Auditorium. In the nightcap, the Nationals defeated the Minneapolis Lakers, 127-122. Thus, the two games produced a total of 508 points.

The Knicks' 45-point period set a War Memorial record and their game total of 136 points was still another record for the Syracuse arena.

Cincinnati Soph Breaks Garden Scoring Record in 118-54 Rout of Seton Hall

NEW YORK (AP) — Not since Hank Luisetti came storming out of the West with his amazing one-hand shots has a basketball player rocked New York in his debut like Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati.

"The greatest sophomore I have ever seen," said his coach, George Smith, after the Cincinnati sophomore smashed the Madison Square Garden scoring record by firing 56 points in a 118-54 rout of Seton Hall at the famed "pop shot palace."

An echoing salute from the "big town" meant that Robertson is a cinch to win the annual award that New York writers give to the outstanding visiting player to appear here.

This is all that Robertson did Thursday night: 1. Broke the Garden single-game scoring mark of 54 points set in 1947 by Harry Boykoff of St. John's; 2. Led Cincinnati to a new Garden team scoring record,

Ivy Named Pro Cardinal Coach

CHICAGO (AP) — Frank Ivy said Thursday night he accepted the job of head coach of the Chicago Cardinals for the 1958 season as "a wonderful opportunity and a chance to advance myself."

In accepting Cardinal Managing Director Walter Wolfner's offer to head the Chicago football team, Ivy became the 19th Cardinal coach and the fifth since Wolfner took over management.

Neither Ivy nor Wolfner would reveal terms of the contract, but it was intimate that it would run longer than one year.

Ivy was released from the final year of his three-year contract with the Edmonton Eskimos of Canada's western Inter-Provincial League to take the Cardinal job.

Since taking over the Eskimos four years ago, Ivy captured the league title three times. His team finished first in its division last season, but lost in the playoffs to Winnipeg.

Ivy, 41, who played with the Cardinals from 1940 through 1942 and again from 1945 through 1947, ended his active career to take a job as assistant coach to Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma. After six years at Oklahoma, he moved to the Canadian pro circuit.

The name "Kansas" is taken from the name of a tribe of Sioux Indians, who called themselves "People of the South Wind."

Rosburg Leads Crosby Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Bobby Rosburg, a living example of "drive for show, putt for dough," had a two-stroke lead over a crack field today in the $50,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur Golf tournament.

Rosburg, a 31-year-old pro playing out of Napa, Calif., used just 28 putts Thursday as he toured the Monterey Country Club in 65 strokes—seven under par—to take a two shot margin over a pair of veterans, Tommy Bolt of Los Angeles and Bo Winger of Odessa, Tex.

Rosburg, a great believer in the power of positive thinking, believes every putt that he starts toward the cup should drop in. He had three 15-footers, one from 20 feet and another from 30 feet Thursday.

Th ex-Stanford athlete is noted as an unorthodox swinger and he still uses a baseball grip on his clubs.

But no one can fault his putting. He three-putted the first hole. Then used only 25 putts on the last 17 holes. He was out in 33, back in 32 on a course that reads 35-37. He had one eagle plus six birdies.

Not only that, but Rosburg with the help of golf writer Nelson Culenward of San Francisco, was tied for the lead in the pro-amateur division with a best-ball of 61.

Peace In Harrisburg

Now, don't get me wrong. I've lived in Harrisburg all my life, and I suppose that good Pankey Branch water will keep me here till I die. I wouldn't have it any other way, because Harrisburg is a fine town—a wonderful town.

BUT... It could be better. Any town has its problems, and one of ours is jobs. I've worked on that problem as hard as anybody, and I've gotten jobs for dozens of Harrisburg men, and I can prove it.

That's not our biggest problem right now, strange as it may seem. Our biggest problem is how to get responsible people in our city government whose only aim is good government. There isn't any room for petty jealousies, personal envy, and "what's in it for me" thinking. One of our big difficulties is the attitude that's like the little boy who said "If we don't play my way I'll take my bat and go home." There's no room for that kind of thinking.

If you elect me commissioner, I have only two aims to fulfill: To do the best I possibly can for our town, which I've always tried to do, and to be sure that everyone knows just what's going on in your city government at all times. One more thing: I'll try to act like a gentleman and a responsible individual. Nobody can sincerely promise any more.

I Will Appreciate Your Vote Next Tuesday!

Candidate for Commissioner
Of The City of Harrisburg

SIU Graduates Earn More in Business, Industry Jobs Than in Teaching Field

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Southern Illinois University's 1957 graduates who took positions in business and industry are earning more money than those who became teachers, according to an annual report issued this week by Dr. Royce R. Bryant, director of the SIU Placement Service.

"In general, beginning salaries for graduates who enter the teaching field have increased each year since 1950," Dr. Bryant reported. "But they still remain lower than those received by non-teaching graduates."

Dr. Bryant said the average annual salary paid last year's SIU bachelor's degree graduate teaching in high school was $3,888, an increase of $498 over 1956. The graduate who began teaching on the elementary level earned $3,656, about the same as the previous year.

The new minimum salary law in Illinois undoubtedly hiked many teachers' salaries although these changes came too late to be included in his report, Dr. Bryant said.

By comparison, the average salary for the graduate with technical training who entered business or industry was $4,897, or 11 per cent increase over 1956. The director also pointed out that beginning salaries in business and industry may now reveal actual earnings since many firms have training programs after which new employees are paid higher salaries. In addition, benefits such as commissions, insurance, and expense accounts are not included in the starting salary figures.

Richerson and Rita Jane Richerson. After the business meeting, games were enjoyed by all. Those attending were Billy, Bob and Beverly Stricklin, Brenda and Sharon Murphy, Mike O'Keefe, Lenora and Renita Martin, Bud and Jimmie McDaniel, Philip Stafford, David, Mary Catherine and Molly Turner, Geraldine Fitts, Charles Lee and J. E. Joyner, Charles B. Ozment, Jerry Cagle, Janice and John, Eddie, Jimmie, Dannie, and Elaine Hill, Carolyn McSparin, Martha Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bob Stricklin, Mrs. Ruby McDaniel, Mrs. Mable Hill, Mrs. Edith Murphy, Mrs. Helen Martin and Mrs. Eva Murphy.

About a third of Southern's 1957 bachelor's degree graduates are teaching, Dr. Bryant said. Of the 25,489 teaching vacancies listed at SIU, only six per cent came from the 31 southern counties of Illinois. Yet more than two-thirds of last year's graduates now teaching school accepted positions in those counties.

Business and industrial opportunities listed at Southern last year totaled 6,178, a 20 per cent increase over 1956. The number of positions listed by schools increased 13 per cent. Nearly twice as many employers came to the campus to interview prospective graduates as in the previous year.

Most in demand by high schools are teachers of mathematics, girls' physical education, industrial arts, home economics, and commerce. Other fields short of teachers are chemistry, physics, and library science, Dr. Bryant said.

The report indicates that engineering still leads the field in industry, while some of the best fields in business are accounting, personnel management, and retailing.

"Many of the employers were as interested in interviewing students from the Vocational-Technical Institute as candidates for bachelor's or master's degrees," the director said.

The services of the SIU Placement Office are available without charge to undergraduates, degree candidates and alumni, and employers, according to Dr. Bryant.

Thinking It Over

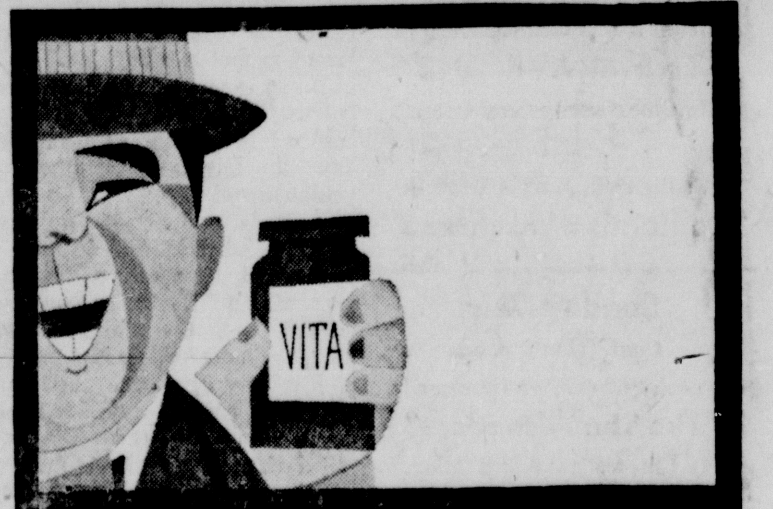

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

The desire to succeed, to surpass, to win and to be superior is a worthy goal which urges people to do their best. How-

art. This includes those who receive association degrees and certificates from the Division of Technical and Adult Education.

ever, this ambition can become hazardous if it is misused. Some people allow their determination to hurt others. They foul their opponents. They destroy friendship. They climb on the backs of their associates. They accept the credit which is not deserved.

When superiority is gained at the expense of others, when personal victory results from fraud, when others are crushed in the process of succeeding, the seeming winner becomes a loser. He loses self-respect and the respect of others.

Peddlers with vitamin "bargains"

Door-to-door salesmen, some quite respectable, are peddling vitamin preparations and offering a "bargain." They show you capsules with an impressive list of ingredients, then tell you they cost less than the established brands we carry. But it's like buying a pound of pennies or a pound of dimes. Wouldn't you pay a little more for the pound of dimes? Same with vitamins. It's the potency that counts. Potency is the only true measure. We'll be glad to prove this to you next time you stop in.
